Challenge

Our analysis showed that the growing traffic could overload servers. In addition, the database on traditional HDDs, could have performance problems, which in turn could lead to the unavailability of Olive.pl.

Implementation

After analyzing the project in terms of increasing number of users and store's availability in the network, we proposed dedicated server with the optimization and technical support.

We proposed a dedicated server in efficient configuration and SSD drives.

We also used information supplied by the customer to configure a web server, designed to deliver high availability and heavily loaded servers, and configured the service PHP5-FPM and APC accelerator, through which the service loads much faster. To ensure uninterrupted availability of the sales platform Olive.pl, Hostersi also proposed technical support and server management. The technical Hostersi team take care of the safety and efficiency of the infrastructure.

Business benefits

Dedicated hosting with technical support allow for uninterrupted work of Olive.pl. In addition, high performance of the infrastructure means also faster load and seamless support of high traffic.
